1. Anti-aircraft batteries in P'yongyang city are in the following locations: 7 anti-aircraft guns on the nationalized theater in the city; 4 anti-aircraft guns on the roof of the former provincial government building; 8 guns on top of Sovisan, the former location of the P'yongyang radio station; 3 guns 400 yards from the south bank of the Taedong River, opposite the city; 2 guns on the roof of the former No Dong newspaper building, on the north side of the river.
2. Approximately 500 railroad engineers, including Soviets, Chinese, and Japanese, were recently brought into North Korea from Manchuria. The North Korean railroads are controlled by the Soviet-run South Manchurian Railroad Corporation. Recently the Soviets formed a special combat railroad construction division under the command of a Soviet expert.
